TECH APPROPRIATION BILL PASSES HOUSE

Annual Ten-Year State Grant Meets with unbounded favor in Legislature

FINAL ENACTMENT SOON

History of Bill is a Series of Favorable Receptions

That the $100,000 per year appropriation to the Institute from the state of Massachusetts for the period of ten years is eminently merited was again demonstrated yesterday when the appropriation bill passed its third reading in the House of Representatives. The attitude of the Representatives is but in concordance with the favor that the bill has met with since its introduction into the Legislature.

The appropriation bill was introduced into the Senate early in January and was at once referred to the Joint Committee on Education. This Committee held a hearing on February seventh and made an unanimously favorable report.

The Senate then referred the bill to the Ways and Means Committee, on February twenty-first and it was given an unanimously favorable report.

In the Senate, it was then amended by a provision for eight free scholarships. After the passing of the third reading, March twenty-eight, it was sent to the House.

The House referred the bill to the House Committee on Ways and Means which reported favorably upon it. This report carried with it, an amendment that the Institute be required to have secured, at the end of five years, one million dollars from other sources.

The bill with the amendment passed the second reading in the House on April twenty-sixth. The third reading of the House Representatives was passed yesterday afternoon.

The bill will now be returned to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendment, and enactment. Then it will come back to the House to be enacted. Finally, the bill will go to the Governor for ratification.

The remaining steps of the bill's progress are but matters of form and the end of next week should witness the consummation of the worthy project.

RESERVED TECHNIQUES

MUST BE CALLED FOR

Delay in the Claiming of Books is Holding up the Final Settlement for Year

It is earnestly hoped that all men who signed up for Techniques will make it a point to obtain their copies immediately. It is delaying the Technique Committee in getting accounts settled up for the year. Every man who signed his name to a Technique slip is in duty bound to keep his contract and a book is being reserved for him. This simply means that although the Committee has an opportunity to sell these books, it feels that they belong to those who have paid a deposit on them, thereby clinching the book as theirs.

Therefore it will be much appreciated by the Treasurer if the men who have signed up, will come around to the office any day from 1 to 2 and from 4 until 4.30. The sooner this matter is attended to, the sooner the accounts of the TECHNIQUE 1912 will be finally settled.

LARGE ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE FILLS HUNTINGTON HALL

Musical Night—under the direction of H. M. Davis

CHINESE MUSIC A FEATURE

Orchestra, Musical Clubs and individual performers show up well.

Promptly, at eight o'clock, in Huntington Hall, last evening, the Glee Club began, as the first number of the program of Musical Night, a most enjoyable two and a half hours by singing "The Dixie Kid." This number caught the fancy of the audience and the appreciation was evidenced in the applause which followed the number.

Mr. W. D. Richardson, 1912, who appeared next, played a mandolin solo. He enlivened the audience with his clever handling of the instrument and with his beaming smile. Indeed, so well did the two features harmonize that he was encored three times before the audience seemed satisfied.

The third number, the playing of the "Glenside March," by the banjo quintet, was also well applauded. The men seemed to play together exceptionally well and gave a well rounded out performance.

Those who had never until last evening heard the Glee Club quartet sing could not have realized the high order and varied talent at the Institute. "The Builders" was most enthusiastically received and warmly applauded. The continued applause brought Wilson of the Quartet back before the audience with a solo. His singing was excellent and brought forth most gratifying hand clapping.

Although the Technology Orchestra was sadly handicapped by the absence of about two-thirds of the regular men, the orchestra having disbanded on the nineteenth of April, its rendition of "La Traviata" was a very creditable one. Conductor Eksbergian's leading of the orchestra was worthy of much praise. Under his leadership, the selection was played with the old-time fire and swing and fineness of technic.

The next number was the "Gypsy Prince," played by the Mandolin Club. The selection was started with catchy swing and the end of the piece seemed all too abrupt as evidenced by the answering applause.

Following the Mandolin Club, the orchestra gave another selection, the "Raymond Overture." Much skill was displayed during this number. Mr. Eksbergian displayed excellent taste in his conducting and the orchestra responded to his "Cretoric" gestures. Well deserved approval was rewarded the splendid playing of the orchestra.

Then, replacing "Our Technology," "A Serenade" was played by the Mandolin Quintet. Much feeling was displayed in the playing of this selection and the number could have not been better placed in the well balanced program for the serenade was strangely soothing after the heavier Raymond Overture.

The next number, one of the most interesting of the night was the solo of Z. Y. Chow 1914, and the accompaniment by T. P. Hsi, 1914. Mr. Chow sang a Chinese song in the native tongue and style of expression. The song was such that called for the best that was in the singer, but Mr. Chow was equal to the demand and gave a charming and melodious solo. Mr. Hsi who accompanied the singer is none the less worthy of much praise on his clever fingering of the Chinese clarinet that he played. The music that this interesting instrument gave forth was of a fascinatingly clever quaver. That the instrument is

DARTMOUTH TRIP ARROUSES WIDESPREAD INTEREST

Many Men Favor Proposition and Prospects of Success Seem to be Very Bright

ARE YOU GOING?

If you Want To Go, Say So Now. Don't Forget it or Put it off.

Yesterday's paper told the student body of the possibility of a trip to Hanover with the Track Team on the date of the dual meet with Dartmouth. The sentiment of the fellows as it was overheard around the 'Stute during the day was wholly in favor of the plan and all that remains is for the fellows who are so interested in the movement to talk to others on the stunt and to come around and sign up. The date of the meet has been changed from Friday afternoon to Saturday of next week and this change should, of itself, bring many more men into the ranks of those who have already signified their intentions of going if the thing should go through.

The train would leave the city early in the morning of Saturday and arrive on Hanover shortly before the meet begins. The team will, of course, have to go up on the day before, so as to get over the long train ride, but they will be with us on the return trip which will be rather a gay one after trimming the Green as Team will, when it is backed by a big, loyal, cheering bunch of Tech men. We would have to leave Hanover very soon after the meet in order to get back in any kind of time and all the men would have to come on the train since there is on Sunday train on that road.

Many men told those who were selling the tickets for the Brown meet trip that they didn't have time enough to arrange for the trip but that excuse will hardly go down now for there still remain ten days and any Tech man should be able to make his mind up in that length of time if he ever could. Leave your name in The Tech office so that the man behind the gun, may get an idea on the number who want to go and be able to decide whether the trip will be possible. The cost of the trip is three dollars and a half (not as much as an evening at the theatre would cost), and this is for Technology and her good name as well as for a personal good time. Nobody will be asked to go and no pressure will be brought to bear on people, for only those who really want to go are wanted, any one else would be decidedly out of place among a bunch like that. Old Show men can tell you of the gay times that they have on their trips to Hamp, Worcester, etc., but this would outshine those things so they would be almost invisible. The men who were lucky enough to go on the trip would never forget it and those who were left behind would never cease to regret it.

To-morrow's issue will probably contain a list of prominent men around the 'Stute who will take names and later on if there seems to be signs of success they will take your money and give you a ticket. There is also another feature of the proposed trip that may not have occurred to any of the men which might attract some who would or could not otherwise go. That is the fact that if two hundred and fifty instead of one hundred of one hundred and fifty should go, the cost per man would be quite sensibly reduced.

The first train load of Tech men that ever went with one of her athletic teams leaves the North Station next Saturday morning with a car full of red paint and all other implements that can be used in doing up the town of Hanover. Are you on? Nobody will be allowed to go that hasn't a full supply of spirit, but you

ANNUAL BIOLOGICAL DINNER ANNOUNCED

Mr. W. L. Underwood and Mr. Scott Mc Nutt to be Speakers

BANQUET AT TECHNOLOGY CLUB

Much interest Taken in the Annual Election

On Thursday evening, May tenth, the Biological Society will hold its annual dinner at the Technology Club. As in past years, this annual dinner is to be made the most important meeting of the season. An attempt has been made to equal the high standard of last year's annual meeting which was combined with a farewell dinner to Professor Sedgwick, previous to his departure to Europe. The usual stunt by the Noise Committee has been omitted, however as it is believed that the time can be utilized to greater advantage and with more pleasure by allowing more and longer speeches.

A most attractive programme has been arranged. Many of the events are to come as a surprise and are certain to be original. After the dinner is over, the toastmaster, Mr. S. M. Schmidt, will introduce Mr. W. Lyman Underwood, the malarial mosquito expert. Mr. Underwood intends to tell of a trip through the southern part of Florida where he saw much that was entertaining and of great interest to Biologists. Mr. Underwood is as well known to outsiders as to Tech men for his exceptional powers of holding the attention of his hearers in a most delightful manner. As this subject is to be based on a trip only recently finished and described practically for the first time to the Biological Society, it is extremely fortunate that he has been secured for the occasion. Mr. Underwood will be followed by Mr. J. Scott McNutt. Mr. McNutt is one of the large corps of Institute men who are acting as health officers for various cities in New Jersey. He has not decided on the subject of his talk but it will probably be the relation of the tragic and humorous incidents of a health officer's career. Professor Sedgwick may tell about the London water supply that he visited last summer, but in any event his talk is sure to be straight and to the point, and of particular interest to those whose days at the Institute are very short.

Great excitement prevails among the political ward dealers over the warrant calling for the election of officers on Thursday, May eleventh. In the camp of Ward 8, where Boss Ireland has held full sway since the refusal of the Presidential diadem twice out of three offers, there seems to be a growing disaffection. The presidential timber is so scarce that it is whispered that Myers and Orchard are to remain in the woods for another year in order to supply the great demands. Boss Ireland has promised to enliven the meeting by rendering his immortal ditty "I don't give a rap for any rough man who don't give a rap for me" to the tune of "Come and hear the bell ring, Babbitt."

have plenty. Let us surprise ourselves for once and show the world that Tech has some college spirit and that she has more than most colleges.

The Tech takes great pleasure in announcing the election of F. M. Somerby 1914, S. Zannetti 1914, J. M. Isenberg 1913, N. A. Hall 1912.

We see the Institute governing Body has voted to leave the Class Day Committee controversy as it stands as far as this year's Committee is concerned. No doubt this is the logical solution of the matter as affairs would be seriously disarranged if any great change in the formation should take place at this late day. However, why did not the Institute Committee decide what should be done in regard to the matter in the future instead of leaving it to the respective classes who have already given the former full power to act upon and decide all such matters. The only thing for the student body to do now is to wait and see what will be done by the Class of 1912 when the time comes for them to elect their Class Day Committee, and in the meantime, let us hope that they will put aside all personal feelings and vote as they feel will reflect to the best interests of the Class in the Future.

VARSITY CREW TAKES ON ANOTHER RACE.

Opponents to be Springfield, Race to be Held on Connecticut Week From Saturday

LAST RACE OF SEASON

Preliminary to Big Race Between Yale and Pennsylvania

Already, the results of the fine showing, made by our Varsity Crew in their race with the Middies at Annapolis, have begun to come forth. The first of these is an invitation from the Board of Trade of Springfield, Mass., to the Crew for a race to be rowed against the Springfield High School eight on the Connecticut, Saturday, May 13.

This race is planned as a preliminary to the big race between Yale and the Pennsylvania crews, which comes on that date. The course for the race will be upstream from Springfield the same as that of the big race. The distance will be two miles, the same as the Crew rowed on the Severn last Saturday. This is about all that the crew can stand with so little time for training as they have had this spring. It gives them a chance to show their speed without getting to the point of exhaustion. The Annapolis race showed only too plainly what the result of a longer race would have been for the Academy crew could not get a lead until the very finish of the race. It was evident to the onlookers that the condition of the Technology Crew would not have permitted a longer race; it would have been simply a stern chase throughout the remainder of the course.

The Springfield Crew is a fast bunch of school boys, who have been coached by the old single scull champion, Harry Bennett. He has developed an eight among the lads in the High School that would be a credit to many a prep school and some colleges. They are looking for a close race and one in which the winner will have to work for his lead all the way from the start.

It is unfortunate in a way that all these races for our Crew should come at places where so few of the men can go, but as long as it is impossible to have them at home, they are more than lucky to get such chances, when they were at the point of failure. This race will come before the eyes of many of our Alumni and

CIVIL ENGINEERING ASSISTANT GOES TO PANAMA

Mr. Morse W. Rew left 12:00 P. M. last night for a Three Weeks' Trip to the Canal

Being chosen from among the instructing staff of the Civil Engineering department of the Institute, Morse W. Rew, assistant in this course, will accompany Charles W. Eaton on a three weeks trip to the Panama Canal. Mr. Eaton is a former Institute student and a benefactor of the civil engineering department.

Mr. Eaton recently visited the Institute with the intention of choosing one of the civil engineering department to accompany him on a trip to the Canal and Mr. Rew was chosen. Mr. Rew will have all expenses paid. He left last night at mid-night.

Mr. Rew is well liked and esteemed by his associates and highly thought of by all his friends, and it is hoped by all that his trip will be enjoyable.

Mr. Rew was interviewed last evening by a large number of friends, and at the time of his departure seemed in the best of spirits over his good fortune.

Mr. Rew's plans are not known as yet but he will return about May 29, in time for the final exams, and will at that time have much of interest to relate of his experiences.

LAST DAY TO VOTE FOR C. E. SOCIETY OFFICERS

Ballots Due At 4. P. M.

Members are urged to pay up for the Dinner to-morrow night

If all those who have signified their intentions of going to the annual banquet to-morrow evening will get their tickets to-day, the officers will be saved much trouble as the guarantee must be given to-night. Everything points to a large attendance and as the entertainment is varied and interesting, a most enjoyable evening is predicted. Several surprises are promised for those who attend.

Therefore leave your ballot at the Cage and buy that ticket to-day. Tickets may be secured from Hausman, Powell, McGrath, Strachan and Bryant or at the Cage.

NEW YORK STATE MEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Hotel Plaza to be Scene of Immense Affair—Large Attendance Expected

This evening will be a big night for the men from New York State. The final dinner and meeting of the year will take place and the officers for the year 1911-1912 will be chosen.

The place of the festivities will be the Hotel Plaza and a most enjoyable social evening is anticipated.

It is expected that a large number of fellows will be present, as the membership of the club is large in proportion to the Empire State.

they will have good cause to be proud of the crew of their Alma Mater when it appears on the Connecticut a week from Saturday. This looks like the best of opportunities for the crew to impress the large bunch of the Alumni who live in the immediate vicinity of Springfield and in that way get the help that they so much need just at the present time.

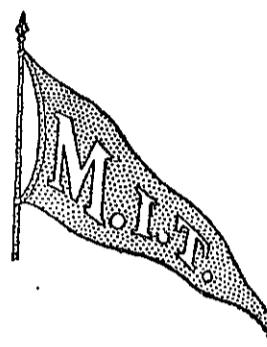

Civilians, ATTENTION. This is the Last Day to vote for your officers for next year. Vote early and vote often as the old saying goes, and at the same buy that ticket for the Annual Banquet, it is going to be the best ever. Don't miss it!!!

possessed of large capabilities was amply demonstrated by Mr. Hsi's performance. The act was very much liked by the audience, and the player and soloist were encored twice, each time giving different selection.

A guitar solo by Mr. L. R. O'Farrell followed the Chinese music. Mr. O'Farrell's happy fingering and plucking of the strings together with his cheerful smile brought him several encores to which he responded with tuneful selections and a few more beaming smiles. Mr. O'Farrell's selection which he abused the guitar and got melody from the instrument was especially appreciated.

Following the guitar solo, the Technology Orchestra again took possession of the stage, and gave a most enjoyable miniature concert in itself. Several very much appreciated selections were played.

The final number of the program of the Musical Night was reached when the orchestra played the Stein Song. The audience arose and sang two stanzas of the beloved old song, and then left the hall to the accompaniment of the Roman March.
